Foreword

The Federal Ministry of Health (FMOH) of Ethiopia is committed to ensuring the quality and standards of health services in the Country. One of the five strategic areas on which human resource development (HRD) should focus as identified by the health policy of Ethiopia is developing appropriate continuing education for all categories of health workers in the health sector. Besides, ensuring that health-related training is responsive to the health needs of the nation is one of the strategic objectives of the national Human Resource for Health (HRH). Moreover, initiating and strengthening continuing education is key HRD component of the Health Sector Transformation Plan (HSTP)¹.

It is evident that capable health work force is essential to continually improve the quality of health service delivery in the country. The competency of health professionals has to be continually developed through standardized in-service training. Above all the primary goal of CPD program is ensuring quality health service by competent health professionals and to link the continuing education unit (CEU) with license renewal requirement.

To guide the implementation of continuing professional development program, the Ministry has adopted and customized the national CPD guideline which was developed by the Food, medicine & Healthcare Administration & Control Authority of Ethiopia. The guideline gives the details about the CPD directive and the CPD program implementation in general. The Guide is revised by the Ministry in collaboration with regional health bureaus/regional regulatory bodies, professional associations and development partners. At this juncture, I would like to thank all organizations and professionals involved in the revision of CPD guideline.

Finally, I would like to remind all stakeholders to strictly abide by the guidance found in this guideline for the implementation of CPD program

Amir Aman (Dr)

Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia,
Ministry of Health Minister
NOVEMBER, 2018

Introduction

Health professionals must maintain, update and enhance their knowledge, skills, and attitude to adequately deliver quality health care. This is particularly important due to a changing disease pattern in which diseases that had been eradicated are now reemerging, as well as an increase of non-communicable diseases. There is a need for CPD to maintain professional competence in an environment of numerous challenges, rapid organizational changes, information technology, increasing public expectations and demand for quality and greater accountability.

Currently, CPD activities in Ethiopia are fragmented as there are no standardization, regulation and accreditation mechanisms. Besides, CPD activities have never been linked to re-licensure of health professionals. Hence, Ministry of Health believes that CPD should be systematically organized, tied to the relicensing system and occur in concert with other developments in health care system to improve the quality of health services.

Therefore, to set up a CPD system in the country whereby CPD is standardized, accredited and tied to re-licensure, FMOH has revised this guideline which will be followed by an implementation plan².

Purpose of the Guideline

With the ultimate aim of improving the health status of Ethiopians through the delivery of quality health services by competent health professionals and helps to establish a CPD system in the country through outlining the process of accreditation of CPD accreditors, CPD providers, and CPD courses and then to link CPD with re-licensure.

The objective of this guideline is to provide guidance on

- The standardization of CPD
- The accreditation of accreditors, CPD providers, and courses
- Course credit designation
- the Responsibilities of major stakeholder on the implementation of CPD program
- the documentation, monitoring, and evaluation of CPD process

Scope of the Guideline

This guideline will govern all health professionals practicing in Ethiopia.

The guideline is also governing accreditors, regulators, employers and CPD providers

Part One

Standards of CPD

1. Features of CPD

- Continuing Professional Development (CPD) refers to all activities health professionals undertake formally to maintain, update and develop their knowledge, skills and attitudes in response to the health service needs of the public.
- CPD denotes to the period of education and training of health professionals commencing after completion of basic or postgraduate health professional training.
- CPD is a broad concept referring to the continuing development of the multi-faceted competencies inherent in health services covering wider domains of professionalism needed for high-quality professional performance. It aims to maintain and develop competencies of individual health professionals essential for meeting the changing needs of patients and the health service system and responding to the new challenges of emerging/re-emerging health problems and scientific development.
- CPD occurs when there is a clearly identified need
- The content of CPD courses should be tailored to fill gaps in knowledge, skills, and attitudes, need to be diversified depending on each category of health professionals nature of practice and may include theoretical knowledge skills, and attitude in the area of professionals' practice, team building and leadership, communication, professional ethics, teaching, research and administration

2. Continuing Professional Development guiding Principles

- Integral Part of Health Professional Practice - CPD should be recognized as an integral part of health professionals' practice reflected in budgets, resource allocations, and time planning. CPD activities ought to be appropriately managed and resourced.

- Allocated and protected time - Health professionals should have allocated and protected time and opportunities to participate in CPD activities.
- Conducive environment - CPD activities have to be provided in a conducive environment/settings and circumstances that are conducive to or effective learning. Physical facilities, skills training equipment and work schedule should be evaluated and regularly updated for their appropriateness in providing adequate context and conditions for CPD.
- Documentation and feedback systems - have to be established to document recognized CPD activities in a systematic and transparent way. Documentation of CPD must be used as a learning tool as well as providing feedback on relevance and quality for the planning of CPD.
- Recognition- There must be a system for recognition of CPD providers and the individual CPD activities.
- Quality- The provider of CPD activities must meet agreed training quality requirements.
- Linked with Re-licensure- CPD courses need to have the required CEU and linked with health professionals license renewal
- Need-based- CPD needs to be relevant to the day to day practice of health care providers and based on the need for the healthcare system
- Equity and Accessibility- CPD should reach to all health care professionals

3. Modalities of CPD Courses Delivery

- The CPD course should encompass integrated practical and theoretical components to enhance the quality of health services. It can be given in the form of self-paced learning, live and/or blended programs. In self-paced programs, the learner works on his/her own pace without interacting directly with a facilitator whereas in live programs group of learners need to interact with a facilitator, for example, group-based training. Blended sessions are a mix of both self-directed and group-based learning.

- CPD should take advantage of a variety of learning modalities including courses, lectures, seminars, participation in conferences, research project and study visits.
- CPD can be delivered through information technology and distance learning. Variety of media such as a) Print material b) Enduring material (non-live CPD activity - videotape, monograph, or CD Rom c) Distance learning using technology such as Audio-conference, Videoconference and Internet webcast
- Relevant use of information and communication technology can function as an integrated part of CPD process.

4. Continuing Professional Development Need Assessment

- Two approaches will be used for CPD need assessment: top-down and bottom-up approaches.
- In top-down approach, FMOH, RHB, and professional associations will recommend relevant CPD activities for health professionals based on new scientific development, revised national guidelines and changes in health services delivery.
- In the bottom-up approach, health professionals and their employing organization will identify their learning needs based on their performance appraisal and ability to accomplish annual plans. Then the identified CPD needs shall be revised and approved by the immediate supervisor. The immediate supervisor will send compiled needs in the unit/Directorate to the responsible unit or directorate in the facility or organization. Eventually, compiled CPD needs will be present at the facility, Woreda health office, zonal health department and regional level.
- Regional Health Bureaus and FMOH will collaborate with CPD providers for the provision of CPD courses and activities for the health professionals based on the CPD needs to be identified using the above two approaches.

- Continuing Professional Development providers must seek information from the target health professional audience, professional association, training institutions, regulatory bodies and FMOH as the basis for planning CPD activities.

5. Continuing Professional Development Monitoring and Evaluation

- CPD process, accreditors, CPD providers and CPD courses should be monitored and evaluated.
- Carefully planned and targeted feedback from participants of CPD must be systematically sought, analyzed and acted upon and the information made available to stakeholders.
- CPD course evaluation process should involve experts in subject matter and curriculum, instructional design, and program expert. It should also address the context of the learning process (include the organization and resources as well as learning environment), the structure and specific components of CPD (include program description and intended outcome) and learning outcomes.

Part Two

Accreditation and Credit Allocation Requirements

I. Accreditation

1. Accreditation of accreditors

- 1.1. Potential accreditors fulfilling the criteria set by the directive may apply to the Ministry to function as an accreditor (Annex A).
- 1.2. The applicant shall fulfill appropriate human resource and infrastructure requirements by this guideline
- 1.3. The CPD Committee shall review the application, weigh against set criteria and may approve, recommend correction or deny application made in accordance with this number (1 and 2).
- 1.4. Accreditor's license shall be valid for three years.
- 1.5. A record of all applications received, as well as their outcomes and a record of the minutes of all Panels' meetings shall be kept for at least five years.
- 1.6. Certificate of accreditation for accreditor status shall be given by the Ministry and the accreditor shall apply for renewal two months before license date of expiry,
- 1.7. The Ministry should notify the decision to the accreditor within two months of application

2. Accreditation of CPD Provider

- 2.1. Potential provider fulfilling the criteria set by the CPD directive and in this guideline may apply to the accreditor to function as a CPD provider.
- 2.2. The provider shall fulfill appropriate human resource and infrastructure requirements in accordance with this guideline.
- 2.3. The accreditor committee shall review the application, weigh against set criteria and may approve, recommend correction or deny application made by sub-article 1 and 2 of this article.
- 2.4. CPD provider accreditation shall be valid for one year.
- 2.5. A record of all applications received, as well as their outcomes and a record of the minutes of all Panels' meetings shall be kept for at least five years.

- 2.6. Certificate of accreditation for CPD provider shall be given by the accreditor, and the provider shall apply for renewal two months before license date of expiry,
- 2.7. the accreditor should notify the decision to the CPD provider within two months of application

3. Accreditation of CPD Course

- a. It refers to the process through which accreditors ensure that CPD activities meet acceptable standards that help to maintain the standards of health care.
- b. The accredited CPD provider requiring course accreditation shall apply to the accreditor at least three months before the anticipated date of provision of the course,
- c. The person receiving the application form at the accreditor office shall:
 - i. Check the form and attached documents for completeness
 - ii. Assign Application Number and a Professional Category to the application after reviewing it adhering to the review guide principle (see the table 1. below). The number will serve as a means of tracking progress in the review process.
- d. The accreditor upon receipt of the application may approve the course and its CEU designated by the provider, recommend correction or deny accreditation with in a maximum of 2 months up on application
- e. The course accreditor will forward the accredited course with all the required documents to FMoH for course coding and uploading on the website.

In reviewing the application, the course accreditor will check:

- The purpose for the proposed CPD course
- If the course fits the proposed target audience
- If the course is based on perceived and objective CPD needs or results of assessment of training needs
- The training methods selected permit the realization of the learning objectives
- Arrangements to evaluate the course with regards to content, process and outcome
- The CPD provider shall declare absence of commercial interest by presenting the signed agreement between the sponsoring organization and the provider.
- The appropriateness of credit point designation
- The venue indicated for conducting the CPD activity should be physically adequate to meet the CPD course's stated objectives.
- The course must have non-promotional commercial sponsorship
- Upon demand for expert review, the accreditor may request such review from an expert who shall not be author or presenter of the program, not employee of the provider in any way would be in conflict of interest.

Table 1. Checklist for reviewing the application of course accreditor

II. Credit allocation and requirement

All awarded/designated CEU for courses will be subject to review by the course accreditor during the accreditation process as verification of fulfillment of the accreditation requirements. CEU can be claimed and earned for all kinds of courses attended either locally or abroad via the Internet or live as long as the courses are accredited.

CPD learning activities shall be categorized as category I and II. Category I CPD learning activities comprise formal and structured learning opportunities offered by accredited CPD providers. The activities are usually scheduled and held at venues that would allow all concerned practitioners to attend. While category II activities are essentially of a self-learning nature or planned and conducted with a local or regional participant group in mind.

Combining credits in Category I and Category II

The total number of credits to be acquired in the three-year cycle as per the professional category reached by combining the credits accumulated based on activities falling solely within Category I and category II.

Exclusion from CEU

Educational activities such as teaching health science students as regular duty assigned by employing organization shall not be cited for claiming CEU

Recognizing CEU for re-licensure

- CEU for a CPD course shall be obtained only if the course received is accredited by Accreditor.
- For CPD courses or activities received from abroad (online or face to face), credit points shall be considered based on this guideline.
- Any CEU obtained from CPD courses provided online or face to face outside Ethiopia should get approval from the Ministry.

- CEU should only be claimed if the activity or the course is relevant to the applicant's practice
- Professionals in all health science fields are required to earn the CEU as per the table 3 indicated per year below to get a re-licensure, of which 15 CEU should be for Ethics and professionalism within the licensure period.
- List of activities that qualify CPD and their respective CEUs allocated are shown in the table 2 below.
- Professional associations may come up with their recommendations on credit point's requirements for their respective profession.
- The maximum credit point that can be earned from a single CPD course shall not exceed 15 CEUs.
- CEU should be earned from a particular course only once within a licensure period
- CEU collected during one budget year cannot be transferred to another year.
- A trainer shall not be awarded CEU for delivering the same course more than once within the licensure period.
- Professionals attending long-term training leading to change in career may not be obliged to fulfill the CEU requirement for that year.
- A maximum of 6 hours shall be considered for a day CPD learning activity

Publicity of CPD course

The provider must communicate the following information to participants so that they are aware of this information before starting the training activity:

- CPD courses must be publicized accurately with sufficient information provided to allow a potential participant to attend.
- Information provided should include: Name of the CPD provider, CPD title; Course director and relevant qualifications; Course objectives; Description of the course content; Method of CPD delivery; Medium or combination of media used; Venue, date, time (for live programs); CPD accreditation statement (type, No. of CEU assigned); Fee.

Part three

Instructional Materials and Modalities

- The provider must offer training materials for each CPD activity that will enhance participants' understanding of the content and foster applications to professional practice.
- All the instructional materials offered must be of satisfactory in technical quality, current in content, and designed to enhance the participants' understanding of the topic.
- The provider should provide material adapted to the needs of the participants. This material may include the following mandatory documents like participant manual and Facilitator guide, in addition to power point slides; handouts; Text of complementary readings suggested by the author are optional documents.
- Reference: A full reference list must be provided in all instructional materials.
- For CPD activities including those in which the learner participates electronically (e.g., via Internet, CD-ROM, satellite broadcasts), all required information must be transmitted to the learner before the learner beginning the CPD.
- Providers that produce enduring materials must review each enduring material if indicated by new scientific developments.

Modalities of CPD

The training courses should encompass integrated practical and theoretical components to enhance the quality of health services. They can be delivered in the form of electronic, live or blended programs.

- Live programs: A group of learners interacts with each other and a facilitator face to face. Live programs can be conducted on-site or off-site.
 - Off-site training: training which is provided outside of providers' workplace and could be in training centers or other clinical sites. Participants in off-site training are usually from different facilities or area.
 - On-site training: training that takes place at the site where participants are working.

- Electronic Courses: In this case, training is provided to health workers through electronic media like the internet and memory disk. Such programs can entertain interaction with the trainer and other trainees through the internet using various programs including video conferencing. In self-paced programs, the learner works on his/her own pace without interacting directly with a facilitator. Educational materials downloaded from the internet and memory disk can be used for self-paced electronic learning.
 - Live or enduring material activities that are provided via the Internet are considered to be Internet CPD. Internet CPD must comply with all CPD Essential Areas and Elements. However, there are special requirements for Internet CPD because of the nature of the activities:
Activity Location: the accredited providers may not place their CPD activities on a website owned or controlled by a commercial interest.
 - Transmission of information: For CPD activities in which the learner participates electronically (e.g., via Internet, CD-ROM), all required information must be transmitted to the learner before the learner beginning the activity.
 - Hardware/Software Requirements: The accredited provider must indicate, at the start of each Internet CPD activity, the hardware and software required for the learner to participate.

- Provider Contact Information: The accredited provider must have a mechanism in place for the learner to be able to contact the provider if there are questions about the Internet CPD activity.
- Policy on Privacy and Confidentiality: The accredited provider must have, adhere to, and inform the learner about its policy on privacy and confidentiality that relates to the CPD activities it provides on the Internet.
- Copyright: The accredited provider must be able to document that it owns the copyright for, or has received permissions for the use of, or is otherwise permitted to use copyrighted materials within a CPD activity on the Internet.
- Blended courses are a mix of both electronic/self-directed and live/group-based learning. First, the learner will study the educational materials downloaded from the internet or the memory disk. Then face to face live program will be set up in the presence of a qualified facilitator to ensure the transfer of relevant knowledge, skills, and attitude. It is recommended that training is delivered electronically or in blended form, whenever possible, as they are more cost-effective and in order not to significantly interfere with the health care delivery in health institutions.

Part Four

Roles and Responsibilities of Stakeholders in CPD Program

1. Ministry

The Ministry shall have the following responsibilities:

1. The Ministry shall establish a Continuing Professional Development committee (from now on referred to as the “Committee”) 16 representative members consisting of the Ministry, Regional Health Bureau, professional associations, training institution, community representative and development partners.
2. The Committee established by sub-article (1) of this article shall delegate the chairperson elected from the committee members, and the secretary shall be from the Ministry.
3. The Committee shall adopt its own rules or procedures.
4. The Committee shall have the following roles and responsibilities:
 - a. Develop implementation guidelines and manuals
 - b. Accredit the application of accreditors by standard criteria provided under the CPD guideline
 - c. Investigate complaints and recommend appropriate administrative measures against accreditors and CPD providers;
 - d. Involved/participate in the Monitoring and Evaluation of CPD implementation process;
 - e. Review the continuing professional development guideline when necessary;
5. Creates institutional recognition mechanism to enroll Health Professional in CPD activity
6. Organizes continuing professional development activities and identify means to fund and sustain the program.

7. The CPD case team in the Ministry shall be responsible to:
 - a. Develop and made available forms necessary for CPD implementation;
 - b. Maintain an up-to-date website with electronic copies of downloadable guides, forms, related documents and list of accredited providers and courses;
 - c. Develop and maintain CPD database;
 - d. The Ministry (CPD Case team) shall ensure CPD accreditors assigned a panel of experts including subject matter expert, instructional design experts, and program owners.
 - e. Notify timely the list of available accreditors and accredited CPD providers;
 - f. monitor and evaluate the overall CPD implementation in the country;
 - g. Support regional regulatory bodies and health bureau to build their capacity;
 - h. Review the appropriateness of CEU allocated for courses by accreditors;
 - i. Facilitate the conduct of professional development activities need assessment;

2. Regional Health Bureau/Regulatory Body

2. Provide technical and financial support to Professional Associations to be able to actively participate in CPD.
3. Provide technical and financial support to Accreditors and CPD providers

Part Five

Monitoring, Evaluation and learning of CPD process

Monitoring and evaluation of CPD process is helpful to improve the overall system including in maintaining standards of CPD. It can also be used to enforce accountability of key stakeholders in ensuring the quality and sustainability of CPD. Hence, monitoring and evaluation of CPD shall regularly be undertaken by FMOH and RHB/Regional regulatory body (RRB).

Monitoring and evaluation require adequate information which can be obtained from existing records and reports. Hence, stakeholders taking part in CPD process need to keep necessary records showing plans and achievements.

Documentation of CPD activities

To implement CPD courses accreditation and relicensing process, essential information must be documented by all responsible parties. This primarily includes FMOH/Regional Regulatory bodies which should document all of health workers' CPD activities in the database which shall be set up at national and regional levels under FMOH. However, accreditors and CPD providers must also document CPD activities electronically.

Individual Health Professionals

- Health professionals are required to keep a log of all CPD activities they participate in and to produce evidence to the re-licensing body (FMOH/RHB/RRB). Their claims for CPD credit may, from time to time, need to be verified.
- Participate in self-assessment as the fulfillment of annual CEU requirement and identify self-need.
- Contribute to assuring quality of the delivery of the course.

What to monitor and evaluate in CPD Accreditation?

The overall system of CPD shall be monitored. This includes:

- CPD Process: The processes of CPD courses accreditation, CPD providers accreditation, licensing and relicensing of health professionals based on CPD CEU
- CPD Providers: Compliance of providers with preset standards
- CPD Courses: CPD training needs and level of participation of health professionals in CPD, trainers, topics, instructional methods, quality and availability of training resources and appropriateness of the learning environment should be monitored and evaluated

The following major indicators shall be used for monitoring and evaluation of CPD.

- Number of institutions serving as an accreditor.
- Number of accredited CPD providers
- Number of accredited CPD courses delivered.
- CPD electronic data base in place
- Proportion of registered health workers fulfilling the CEU per year.
- Proportion of CPD providers in compliance with the set standards
- Percentage of CPD financing contributed by participants/learners in each CPD provider and in the country as a whole

When to monitor and evaluate

- Every CPD provider has to monitor its activity on a daily basis and evaluates its CPD activities every six month. The results of the monitoring and evaluation shall be documented.
- FMOH/RHB shall monitor the CPD accreditation process every year. It shall evaluate the CPD program in the country two years after the establishment of the system and later every four years.

How to monitor and evaluate

Monitoring and evaluation of the CPD system can be performed using various methods. These include:

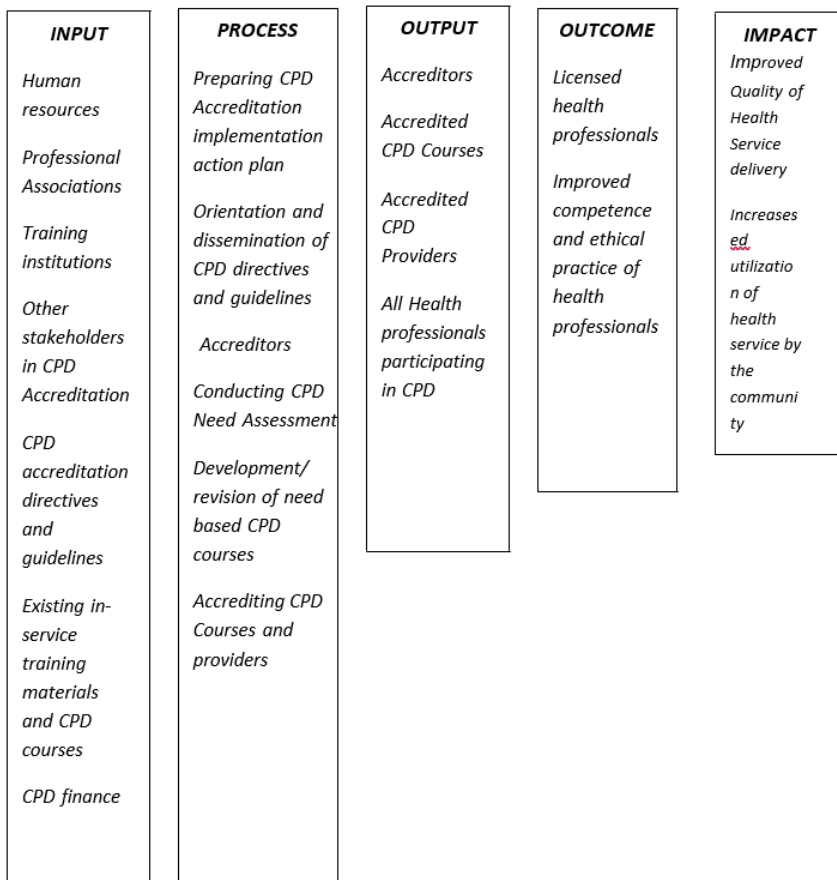

- Analysis of records and reports
- Undertaking review meetings with relevant stakeholders
- In-depth interview or focus group discussion
- Survey and comparative study
- Random assessment
- Supervisory visits
- Observation

Information Sharing

One of the major benefits of monitoring and evaluation is that it facilitates information sharing among partners. The following information can be shared with stakeholders as required.

- registered and licensed health professionals Information
- Share CPD study findings with stakeholders
- Disseminate information on source of funding for CPD

Logic Model for the National Continuing Professional development (CPD) Accreditation

Part Six

Quality Control of CPD Program

- FMOH/RHB/RRB/Accreditors will be responsible for monitoring the quality of the CPD learning activities offered to health practitioners by the CPD Providers.
- CPD Providers may be audited at any time by FMOH/RHB Accrerator
- The accreditation status of CPD Provider may be reviewed and revoked in light of the outcome of an audit or upon any critical incident being brought to the attention of the FMOH/RHB Accreditors.
- Quality measures will include review of
 - The list of all activities provided for the year;
 - Compliance with the guidelines in the allocation of CEUs for the learning activities;
 - Maintenance of all necessary documentation;
 - Compliance with annual reporting requirements;
 - All learning activities specifically relating to ethics;
 - Relevance of activities provided to the field of practice;
 - Any problems experienced/ reported.

Non-Compliance

Health practitioners who are not compliant or have requested an extension

The CPD committee will on receipt of a non-compliant audit or request for extension afford the health practitioner a six months' extension in which they can attempt to be compliant. After the period of six months, if still not compliant, the names of non-compliant health practitioners will be submitted to the registration and licensing body, which might take any of the following actions:

- changing the category of registration to supervised practice; until proof of compliance with the CPD requirements are submitted;
- suspension from the register until submission of proof of compliance with the CPD requirements is submitted; or
- any other resolution by the licensing body.

Deferment

Health practitioners may apply for deferment of CPD and CPD Committee will review such applications individually on an ad hoc basis. The application should be strongly motivated with appropriate evidence/ documentation.

Deferment may be granted in the case of:

- a. a health practitioner who is outside Ethiopia for a period of time exceeding twelve months and is not practising his/her profession; and
- b. a health practitioner who is outside of Ethiopia and practising in a country where there is no access to CPD activities.

Deferment may be granted for a maximum period of three years. Deferment will not be granted for a period of less than twelve months (in view of the fact that a professional may collect CEUs in a following year).

Any health practitioner mentioned in the above paragraphs wishing to re-enter the system after deferment will be subject to the following conditions:

- if deferment was granted for more than twelve months but less than two years, proof of full employment in the profession during that time should be submitted and the health practitioner will, on review by the CPD Committee, be allowed to recommence the CPD year immediately;
- if deferment was granted for more than two years but less than three years, the health practitioner must submit proof of his/ her employment during that time and the health practitioner will, on the recommendation of the CPD Committee, be required to complete a period of supervised practice as determined by the licensing body in his/ her area of practice, and will recommence the CPD year immediately;
- if deferment was granted for longer than twelve months and the health practitioner did not practice his/ her profession during the deferment period, he/she will be required to complete a period of supervised practice as determined by the licensing body in his/ her area of practice; or

- if deferment was granted because the health practitioner was engaged in formal education and training for an additional qualification, CEUs will not be allocated for obtaining the said additional qualification. Proof of the additional qualification must be supplied to the licensing body and the health practitioner will recommence the CPD year immediately.

Retirement

Retired health practitioners who are active on the register should be compliant with CPD.

Annex F: Criteria for assessing the quality of Online CPD Courses

To what extent does the course meet the criteria in this area?	Meets Criteria	Partially Meets Criteria	Doesn't meet criteria	Not adequate information
CONTENT
1. The goals and objectives clearly state what the participants will know or be able to do at the end of the course. The goals and objectives are measurable.
2. The course content and assignments are relevant to the Ethiopian situation.
3. The course content and assignments are of sufficient rigor, depth and breadth for the target audience.
4. Information literacy and communication skills are incorporated and taught as an integral part of the training curriculum.
5. A clear, complete course overview and syllabus are included in the course.
6. Course requirements are consistent with course goals, are representative of the scope of the course and are clearly stated.
7. Information is provided to trainees on how to communicate with the online instructor and course provider.
8. The course reflects multi-cultural education and the content is accurate, current and free of bias or advertising.
9. Online instructor resources and notes are included.
10. Assessment and assignment answers and explanations are included.

INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN
11. Course design reflects a clear understanding of target audience' needs and incorporates varied ways to learn and master the curriculum.
12. The course is organized into units and sessions that fall into a logical sequence. Each unit and session includes an overview describing objectives, activities, assignments, assessments, and resources to provide multiple learning opportunities for trainees to master the content.
13. The course instruction includes activities that engage trainees in active learning.
14. The course provides options for the instructor to adapt learning activities to accommodate trainees' needs.
15. The course design provides opportunities for appropriate instructor-student and student-student interactions.
16. The course design includes explicit communication/activities that confirm whether students are engaged and are progressing through the course.
17. Trainees have access to resources that enrich the course content.
TRAINEE ASSESSMENT
18. The course has pre and post-test and other forms of assessment as needed.
19. Trainee evaluation strategies are consistent with course goals and objectives, are representative of the scope of the course and are clearly stated.

Continuing Professional Development (CPD) Guideline for Health Professionals in Ethiopia

20. The course structure includes adequate and appropriate methods and procedures to assess trainees' mastery of content.
21. Assessment materials provide the instructor with the flexibility to assess students in a variety of ways.
22. Qualification and certification criteria are clearly communicated to participants.
TECHNOLOGY
23. The course architecture permits the online instructor to add content, activities, and assessments to extend learning opportunities.
24. Clear and consistent navigation is present throughout the course.
25. Rich media are provided in multiple formats for ease of use and access to address diverse participant needs.
26. All technology requirements (including hardware, browser, software, etc.) are specified.
27. Prerequisite skills in the use of technology are indicated (as needed).
28. Copyright and licensing status is clearly stated and easily found.
COURSE EVALUATION AND SUPPORT
